Global Explosive Ordnance Disposal
Road to War Lessons Learned

Colonel Tom Langowski
52d EOD Group
April 30, 2010
Develop the premier combined, joint, and interagency capability to counter the influence of improvised explosive devices and networks. Enable the migration of Counter-IED capabilities and capacity to all coalition forces and host nation security forces in order to protect the people from insurgent attacks and free them from future threats posed by violent extremist networks.
• All exploitation and intelligence collected on an IED event begins with defeating the device; EOD core competencies need to maintain that capability
• To effectively begin attacking the network requires the integration of all the MEANS available; the EOD Company leadership is often times that SME at the BCT
• Training the force requires a thorough working knowledge of red and blue TTPs
