US-VISIT Overview

• In 2004, US-VISIT became the first, large scale biometric identification program of its kind, enabling the collection of international travelers’ biometrics – fingerprints and a digital photograph – at US ports of entry.

• Privacy is an integral part of US-VISIT, and is essential to the program’s mission.
US-VISIT and Privacy

- US-VISIT’s privacy practices are based on The Privacy Act of 1974 which includes Fair Information Practice Principles (FIPPs). The Privacy Act helped US-VISIT set important guidelines for approaching privacy within the organization.

- The US-VISIT privacy program promotes privacy awareness, and builds trust by implementing sound privacy practices. This includes the ten Privacy Principles.

US-VISIT Commitment to Privacy

• US-VISIT’s Privacy Program is led by a dedicated Privacy Officer with a staff of privacy analysts who are responsible for ensuring compliance with Federal privacy laws and procedures.

• These privacy officials maintain a culture within US-VISIT where privacy is valued, treated as a fundamental right and obligation.
US-VISIT Commitment to Privacy

• US-VISIT takes privacy into account during all stages of a project – from conception through planning and development and execution – and every aspect of the program.

• US-VISIT is proud of its privacy culture, but we are acutely aware that the protection of privacy requires constant vigilance and openness.
