APRIL 12-15, 2010
WWW.NDIA.ORG/MEETINGS/0730
HYATT REGENCY MIAMI ▶ MIAMI, FLORIDA
The war on terrorism continues, and the economic crisis of 2008 and 2009 has had a significant effect on the entire Nation, and especially the Department of Defense.

The Nation is focused on national economic recovery. In the meantime, the Congress has decreed the weapons systems reform act, and the department is trying to ensure maintenance of effectiveness while increasing the efficiency of those very systems across the life cycle. The logistics systems that support virtually every system in the inventory, as well as the individual commodities that our war-fighters need around the world must be properly managed and maintained. Our military force is shifting from Iraq, which will hopefully become a peace keeping and training operation, to Afghanistan, which is a combination of terrorists elimination and nation building that is dependent on many contributions from U.S, allied, and coalition forces.

As our forces shift from Iraq to Afghanistan, we must ensure they have the required support. Logistics continues to be a significant contributor not only to the success of operations, but to the balance between efficiency and effectiveness. Supporting a new focus, and being prepared for what's next, such as January's catastrophic earthquake in Haiti is always a challenge when the requirement is not well defined, but such is the lot of the logistician whether in government or commercial business.

Understanding the ramifications of change, learning the lessons that have been taught on the field of battle, conducting the humanitarian operations and educating a force not only in its basic competencies but in the joint, unified, and multi-agency world is a significant challenge that our logistics leadership continues to face on a daily basis. Supporting this effort requires a willingness to change and evolve, not only in our military forces, but also in all the commercial sectors that support them. Our logistics capabilities must continue to be increasingly dynamic with greater interoperability, infused with new ideas, processes, and systems to support our operational personnel, regardless of whether they are in military uniform or not. The continuing efforts to align the educational processes of our logistics capabilities require the consistent energy and commitment that have been reflected throughout the defense department the past several years. The increased emphasis on small business interoperability in the market causes us to examine our relationships for the good of the clients we serve.

Our 2010 theme, “Defense Logistics in an Era of Change: Strategically Focused, Operationally Engaged, and Committed to Professional Development” again follows on the themes of previous years enabling us to examine performance, and measure the outputs that are needed by the operators around the world. To focus us, each day of the conference will feature a theme that will hopefully cause all of us to increase our awareness and need for interoperability across the government and commercial logistics world.

During the conference, three national-level awards for logistics excellence will be presented. Established in 1956 with a focus on industry, the Edward M. Greer Award stimulates thought and action of benefit to industry and the public by encouraging solutions to troublesome maintenance and integrated logistics support planning techniques. The Logistician Emeritus Award, established in 1980, will again be presented to an individual in government who has demonstrated outstanding competence and has made a substantial contribution in the field of national security logistics. Again this year we are honored to present the DoD Award for Supply Chain Operational Excellence on behalf of the Office of the Secretary of Defense (AT&L).

NDIA's Annual National Logistics Conference & Exhibition is one of the premier national-level forums for exchanging ideas and sharing insights into improving the support to our nation's warfighters across the spectrum of military operations. The conference brings together the senior logistics policy officials and senior practitioners attracting high-caliber government and industry participants. This conference presents yet another opportunity for logistics leaders to address their policy and resource allocation challenges in terms of today's urgent challenges. In addition, the expanded exhibit forum will again highlight the best cutting-edge technologies being developed to support our war fighters in an efficient, interoperable manner.

You have an important role on the war fighter’s logistics team that consists of industry, government, and academia from both domestic and a growing number of international organizations. We share a mutual goal by seeking effective and efficient solutions to exceed the needs of our deserving customers in harm’s way: Soldiers, Sailors, Airmen, Marines and Coast Guardsmen.

Our sponsor, the National Defense Industrial Association, Logistics Management Division, supported by the Office of the Secretary of Defense (Acquisition, Technology and Logistics) and the Logistics Directorate, J4, The Joint Staff, is committed to bringing you a world-class forum for an exchange of ideas that will help make your organizational and business strategy a reality. Please join us by actively participating as we share information with this focus throughout the event, then share knowledge and enthusiasm by bringing it back to your organizations.

AWARDS

During the conference, the Edward M. Greer, the Logistician Emeritus Award, and the DoD Award for Supply Chain Operational Excellence will be presented. Nominations for the Greer and Emeritus awards will be accepted until February 1, 2009. Nominations should be sent to Sam Campagna at scampagna@ndia.org and must contain the individual’s accomplishments and rationale for the nomination.

The Edward M. Greer Award
The Greer Award is presented annually to an industry individual in recognition of noteworthy contributions or meritorious service to the Department of Defense in the area of integrated logistics support engineering and its implementation in maintenance and product support. The award was established in 1956 by Greer Hydraulics, Inc., to stimulate thought and develop programs which will benefit industry and the public. The award program encourages solutions to troublesome maintenance problems or to the development of integrated logistics support planning techniques to be employed in their solution. The award is presented in honor of its originator, Edward M. Greer.

The Logistician Emeritus Award
The Logistician Emeritus Award is presented to an individual who has demonstrated outstanding competence and has made a substantial contribution in the field of national security logistics while serving in a governmental position. The award was established by the Logistics Management Division in 1980 as a means of recognizing deserving individuals.

DoD Award for Supply Chain Operational Excellence
The Assistant Secretary of Defense for Logistics and Materiel Readiness (ASD(L&M&R)) is partnering with the Supply-Chain Council and the National Defense Industrial Association (NDIA), to sponsor the tenth annual Department of Defense (DoD) Award for Supply Chain Operational Excellence to recognize projects that demonstrate significant improvements in supply chain management. The DoD Award for Supply Chain Operational Excellence provides a showcase for innovative management and technology tools we are using to improve our supply chain efficiency and effectiveness in order to enhance our support to the warfighter. The award honors organizations that have made exceptional progress through innovative development or adoption of the best supply chain practices. Last year, the United States Transportation Command received the award for its Supply Chain Operations Reference (SCOR) model base Distribution Process Owner (DPO) Strategic Opportunities (DSO) to improve the efficiency of the DoD-wide distribution processes.
